

Three Counties Medical School; Clinical education Development Group

Group:

An informal group of clinicians in the area of the Three Counties Medical School (Gloucestershire, Herefordshire and Worcestershire) to be members of a new voluntary discussion group interested in developing the scholarship of education and research across the area.

Although the impetus for this development is the proposed Three Counties Medical School, it is intended that this forum should be concerned with all types of clinical education and health-related research. It is an entirely voluntary activity, intended to promote an informal opportunity for input and collegiate discussion.

Members will not be employees of the University nor reimbursed for their contribution.
