Voice Switched Conferences

Multipoint conferences introduce additional constraints. With Point to Point conferences both sites can see and hear each other throughout the conference. With Multipoint conferences it would be unworkable for all sites to be seeing all other sites simultaneously. Normally, therefore, the conference is "voice switched". In other words, the image of the site speaking takes precedence and is seen by all the other sites.

Source URL: https://community-stg.jisc.ac.uk/library/janet-services-documentation/voice-switched-conferences